The Judiciary Committee reported drawing Waterman's appointments was legal. Goucher opposed it and wanted it referred to the Attorney-General. The report was finally adopted and a recess taken until 1:30. ASSEMBLY.

A large number of bills was introduced when the Assembly met this morning.

The constitutional amendment relating to the abolishment of the railroad commission came up on special file and Shanahan first spoke. He said he could see no further use for the commission. It costs the people from $18,000 to $20,000 a year, and since it came into existence has cost something like $200,000.

Brusie wanted it referred to a special committee on commissions. The disposition of it caused considerable discussion, but it was finally decided to make it a special order for next Thursday. A recess was then taken until 2 o'clock.

Silver Pool Investigation.

Washington, Jan. 22.-The special committee on the silver pool this morning examined Senators Stewart, Teller and Walcott. They denied all knowledge of the pool.

E. N. Hill and James A. George testified that they knew no Senators or Representatives who were interested in the silver pool, but that they had been told of the existence of one by a man named Hedenberg, who sought to have them interest Congressmen in its operations.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22. - Represen tative Cannon yesterday introduced a resolution in the House, providing that on Saturday next at 4 o'clock, unless the legislative appropriation bill reported to the House by the Committee of the Whole, the committee shall be discharged from its further consideration with all amendments pending thereto; and the previous question will be considered as ordered. The resolution also provides that on Wednesday next unless the Naval Appropri ation bill is reported to the House, the previous question be considered as or-dered at 4 o'clock. The same rule to apply to the Consular and Diplomatic bill on Friday, Jan. 30th, and to the Military Academy bill on Tuesday, Feb. 3d. The resolution was referred to the Committee on Rules.

The approval of the journal is being made the subject of a prolonged debate, but there is an entire absence of the disorder of vesterday. The journal has been approved and the District of Columbia Appropriation bill, the House has gone into Committee of the Whole on the Naval Appropriation bill; the general debate being limited to four hours.

SENATE. A quorum appeared at 10:30 and the question of the approval of the journal came up, Aldrich took the floor and stated that the Democrats at last had thrown off all disguise and disclosed that they had decided to prevent any legislation unless they wished to regard a certain measure acceded to. Harris said if the Senate would proceed to the consideration of the appropriation bill the minority would consent.

Aldrich, at the conclusion of his remarks, moved that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the resolution to amend the rules by the adoption of the plan of closure. The point of order from the Democratic side was that the unfinished business was not a motion to correct the jour-Stepacher as clerk of the Apportion- nal of Tuesday's proceedings and that as it involved the status of Aldrich's resolution, it must be first disposed of The Vice President indicated his dethat the Governor's action in with- sire to hear agument on the point and positions on each side stated by various Senators. Stewart argued strongly on the Democratic side, and Sherman arguing that although the motion to correct the journal was a privileged question, it did not necessarily follow it must be first considered. Any other subject might be taken up in prefer ence by a majority vote. The Vice President ruled the Aldrich motion to proceed with consideration of the closure rule in order and overruled Harris' point of order. Harris appealed but the chair was sus tained. Messrs. Teller, Wolcott and Stewart voted with the Democrats. Aldrich moved to proceed with the consideration of his resolution of closure, and Gorman moved to table it.

The Vice President submitted the question and a vote was taken, it resulted: Yeas, 30; nays, 35. So the action to table was lost and the vote was then on the motion to consider the closure rule. It prevailed by a vote of 36 to 32.

Immediately, however, Harris called up his point of order made against the closure resolution on Tuesday that it was not explicit enough to meet the rule. The Vice President ruled against him, but Harris took an appeal and was permitted to debate it. He is now reading from an apparently inexhaustable mess of manuscript to kill time.

ial to the GAZETTE. San Francisco, Jan. 22.-The last nonors were paid in San Francisco, to the late King Kalakaua of Hawaii, when the funeral services took place in the afternoon at Trinity Episcopal Church. The preparations for the services began a little after I2 M., when the Post Street door of the Church was opened to admit the clergy, public officials and privileged individuals. The streets without were almost impassable from the throngs gathered in the vicinity. The interior of the church was not draped, except at the back of the chancel where the American and Hawaiian flags were hung together, while before them, burned a number of jets of gas, arranged in the form of a kingly crown. The floral pieces in the chancel were large and numerous, one cf the most noteworthy being a banner, presented by Islam Temple of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine of the Masonic Order, to which the King was admitted. It represented the badge of the Order given to him just before death, a large cimeter and crescent of white flowers on a purple ground, and the word "Islam" above.

The first nine rows of seats in the church were occupied by the pall bearers and dignitaries, Admiral Brown and staff, the Golden Gate Commandery of Knights Templars members of the Consular Corps, Masons and others. Mayor Sanderson, ex-Mayor Pond and representatives of various municipal organizations occupied seats in the body of the church.

At 1:30 P. M. the bells of the church began tolling, while the organ sounded the solemn strains of Bethoven's funeral march. The clergy, followed by the guard of honor, proceeded slowly down the aisle, followed by the pall pearers, bearing the coffin, which was draped with Hawaiian colors and heaped with flowers. Closely following came Consul McKinley and the little party of Hawaiians which accompanied the King from Honolulu. The as the clergy arranged themselves on either side, at a distance, the augmented choir intoned a chant by Fel-

The church was soon filled with spectators. The Twentieth Verse of the Fifteenth Chapter, First Epistle of St. Paul to the Corinthians, was read by Bishop Spalding of St. John's Church, and the hymn "Jerusalem the Golden" was sung. Rev. J. S. The Late King.

The Examiner contains the following biogriphical sketch of King Kalakaua: David Kalakaua, King of the Hawaiian Islands, was fiftyfour years and sixty-five days of age at 10 o'clock yester lay morning. He was born in Honolulu, island of Oahu, on the 16th of November, 1836, as the first result of the union between the Hon. C. Kapaakea and the High Chiefess Keehaklole, who were connected with the high chiefs descended from the ancient sovereigns. His Majesty claimed descendency from the great house of Keawe, from which all the Mois (kings) of Hawaiia have descended, and 800 generations antecedent thereto to Lai-lai, the great progenitress or Eve of the Hawaiian race.

The Board of Genealogy of the kingdom present a direct relationship of His Majesty as the greatgrandson of Lono II, King of Hawaiia (A. D. 1720), surnamed Ka-ii-ma-mao, or, according to Cook's narrative, the father of the King Kalanipuu or Tereiopu, who reigned during Captain Cook's visit. At that time Kamehameha, the founder of the first dynasty, was a ly to do?" lad in his teens.

The name Kalakaua, translated literally, means "Day of Battles," and the name of his wife, Kapiolani, means "Captive of Heaven." This lady he married in 1862. She received her name from Kapiolani. the famous Hawaiian chiefess, who broke the Pele Kapu and was one of the earliest, if not the earliest, notable convert to Christianity.

The union was not blessed with children, and in April, 1877, the King's sister, Princess Lydia Kamakeha Liliokualani, was by him declared heir apparent to the throne.

Kalakaua was elected King of the Hawaiian Islands on the 12th day of February, 1874, by the members of the National Legislature, receiving twenty-nine out of the thirty-five votes cast, Queen Dowager Emma, relict of Kamehameha IV, receiving six votes.

Soon after his election it was determined by His Majesty to make a tour of the islands, in order to become better acquainted with the people. No King had, immediately after his accession, made such a tour since the days when Kamehis chiefs and warriors in a fleet of double canoes and the old style of ancient granduer which has long since passed away. The tour was commenced on March 16, 1874, and all the islands were visited, the trip ending by a tour of the island of Oahu on April 23d of that year.

In September, 1874, the Amerito His Majesty to visit the United States, and the United States ship Benicia, Captain Hopkins, was placed at his disposal. The object of this visit was to aid in the negotiation of the Reciprocity Treaty between Hawaii and the United

In the Assembly yesterday resolution authorizing the Controller to draw his warrant in favor of each member for thirty dollars for stationery, newspapers, etc. The resolution was adopted, an amendment to make the amount that sum or spend it for gip, bepapers, and three bits' worth of time. If "coming events cast their shadows before," we cannot reasonably expect much from the Assembly in the way of economy. They seem to be following in the well-beaten path of former sessions.

THE news of Kalakaua's death will not reach the Hawaiian Kingdom for seven or eight days. That is the only civilized nation in the world that is unable to communicate with any other by telegraph, either overland or under the water. Japan and China are not so much isolated as this little Island Kingdom so near to our own sheres. The Charleston, which is about to bear home the body of the dead King, will probably be the first also to convey the news of his death.

CAR-LOADS OF COIN.

Twenty-Seven Freight Cars Filled With Silver.

That Is the Amount There Would B-Were Ten Million Dollars in Half-Dollars, Quarters and Dimes to Be Transported by Rail.

"How many wagon loads of silver could those New York bankers get if they sell the Treasury ten million dollars' worth of bonds and take their pay in subsidiary silver coin, as they are reported likely to do?" said the Washing ton correspondent of the Jacksonville Times-Union, to an official of the mint

"Wagon loads, young man? You don't propose to measure ten million dollars' worth of silver by wagon loads, do

"Why not?" "Because there is too much of it. A wagon load would not figure in calculating the weight of ten million dollars' in silver.' "How much would a million dollars of it weigh?"

"Only twenty-seven tons," was the smiling reply. "If it was in silver dol-lars it would weigh thirty tons, but in subsidiary silver coin it would weigh twenty-seven tons and a little overtwenty-seven and a half tons in round

"How does it come that subsidiary coin weighs less to the dollar than the silver dollars?"

"The subsidiary silver coin used to be exactly equal to the dollar. That is to say, two fifty-cent pieces or four quar-ters, originally weighed the same as one silver dollar, but, away back in the fifties, a slight change was made in the weight of the dollar, and of the subsidiary coin also, and when the dollar was changed back to its present standard the subsidiary coin was not changed."

"Then according to your figures it would require something more than a horse and cart to transport the $10,000,-000 of half dollars, quarters and dimes to New York in case the New York bankers come down with their $10,000,-000 of bonds and take small change in y for them as they are reported like-

"Well, slightly. The $10,000,000 of silver would weigh 275 tons, which means, of course, 27 car-loads. A pretty good freight train that would be with 27 cars loaded with silver."

"And suppose it were in dollars?" "Then the $10,000,000 would weigh 300 tons instead of 275, and would add two or three more cars to the train."

"Suppose the $10,000,000 were in gold instead of silver, what would it weigh "About 37,000 pounds, or, in a general way, it would make two car-loads. One million dollars in gold coin weighs 3,686 pounds, while in silver dollars, as I have said, it weighs thirty tons." "Suppose they were to take their ten millions in nickels, how much would it weigh then?" "Well, $1,000 in nickels weighs 220 pounds. At that rate $1,000,000 would weigh 220,000 pounds, so that by a brief calculation you will find that to transport $10,000,000 in nickels would take a train of cars numbering considerably over 100, or, in other words, a train about a half a mile long." "And to follow this interesting ques tion to its last step, what is the weight of $1,000 or $1,000,000 in pennies?"

"The weight of $1,000 in pennies is 685 pounds, and $1,000,000, of course, would be 685,000 pounds. To trans port $10,000,000 in pennies would require about 350 cars, or make a train a couple of miles long."

Just below the windows of the mint hameha the Great made his first bureau is a large asphalted surface, triumphal circuit, accompanied by looking like a section of Pennsylvania avenue, which has bobbed up in the area inside of the Treasury building. It is the upper surface of the covering of the uge vault built a few years ago for the deposit of silver dollars and other coin held by the Treasury Department. This vault, with the others belonging to the Treasurer's office, has in it about $175. 000,000 in silver and gold coin, the total weight of which is calculated to be about 4,800 tons, or sufficient to load a can Government sent an invitation train of cars about two and a half miles in length. To carry out this interesting calculation one step farther, it might be added that the Director of the Mint in his recent report calculates the amount of metallic money in the United States at the close of the last fiscal year to have been $695,000,000 in gold and $463,000,000 in silver, which, upon the basis of weight indicated in the above conversation, would be 1,280 tons of gold and 13,896 tons of silver. A pretty good load for the American people to Trembath of Storey introduced a carry around in their pockets, which is another evidence that we are a great people.

Then the "chemical lung," or so called punkah, stationery would last them a life measuring 4x2.6, was set in motion. The temperature was soon reduced to 65 degrees, and the air freed from all impurities. Then fat was burned to test the machine for organic substances, and the "lung" was started up just in time to prevent the examining gentlemen from running out for fresh air. It is proposed to use the invention dur-ing the construction of the channel tunnel.

-A Hamburg firm is making a fortune by selling bogus Heligoland postseg stamps to collectors in Germany.
As soon as the Anglo-German agreement concerning the island became known there was a tremendous demand for the old Heligoland stamps, and the for the old Heligoland stamps, and the prices went up to forty-five and fifty cents apiece. The firm in question at once bought the Heligoland stamp for little more than its value as old metal, and has kept it a-going day and night ever since. It has already sold 20,000 and has more orders in sight than it can fill. At a recent meeting of the postage stamp bourse in Berlin a movement to stop the fraud was started.

MYTHOLOGICAL SEITIES. Rare Statues Representing Two of Then Discovered in Andia.

The Pioneer of Allahabad reports an archæological discovery of some importance at Maheswar, in the Rungpore district, says the London Times. children, while playing among ruins there, unearthed two beautiful groups of statuary, cut from the hard black basaltic stone found near Gya. Both represent mythological deities, with features of a Greeco-Buddhistic type. The first is two feet in length by twenty inches in breadth, with a depth of six inches. It represents Vishnu or Basudeb, the emblem of the preserving power in nature. The central figure stands on a lotus, and its four hands rrasp a club, wheel, lotus and conch. On the head is a tiara three inches in height, which, with the earrings, necklace, bracelets, waist-chain and sacred thread, are rendered with a wonderful degree of delicacy and finish. To the right and left stand figures of Laksmi, the Goddess of Wealth, and Saraswati, who patronizes learning, each ten inches in height. Round the central group are seven minor deities armed with bows and arrows, and riding on horses and elephants. The entablature is surmounted by a head of the Avair, known as Nrisingha. On the base is an inscription said to be in the Landsa character, a mixed form of Devanagiri and Thibetan. The second piece of carving is smaller, and workmanship, though good, is not equal to that of the other group. It is sixteen inches high, twenty inches broad and six inches deep, and represents a Pauranic goddess. The figure is seated on a lotus, and is four-armed. The lower left hand supports a male infant, the corresponding right hand holds a sweetmeat, and the two upper grasp branches of trees. This group also has an inscription in Landsa, which, however, has defied elucidation. Both pieces of sculpture are in excellent preservation, the tracery being as clear-cut as if it had just left the artist's hand. History and tradition are alike silent as to the origin of these curious relics; and it will probably remain a puzzle how an inscription in bastard Thibetan should be discovered at so unlikely a spot. The be discovered at so unlikely a spot. The keenest excitement was caused by the discovery among the Hindu population. Apart from the intrinsic value of the carvings, which is considerable, they are objects of worship. During their temporary sojourn at the local police station, they were visited by crowds and smothered with sweet oils and flowers. Various claimants came forward, and, in order to avoid litigation, the district magistrate made them over to the local Hindu religious association. They have been built into the wall at one end of its hall, where they were inspected with interest by Sir Stuart Bayley during his recent visit to Rungpore.

STORE DETECTIVES. They Have Become a Necessity in Dry Goods Houses.

The detective has become a permanent fixture in the big dry goods houses. Not one of the up-town establishments is without a vigilant "fly cop," and many have as many as four or five men detailed to do this kind of duty at this time of the year, says the New York Star. These men in not a few cases were selected on the advice of Inspector Byrnes. The holiday season brings the shoplifters and the petty thieves, male and female, to the front, and they mingle with the crowds which throng the Pickpockets, too, find the busy stores a profitable field for their art. The detective, who, mayhap, is acting as floorwalker, or presiding with a tape and check blank at some counter, has his eyes open for this element of the population. Many a "crook" feels a tap on his shoulder and hears a whisper in his TICKETS, Admitting Gentleman $1 50. ear to make a hurried exit.

The shoplifters give the detectives the most concern. Toys and small articles are tumbled about in confusion on the counters in the big stores, and while the girl attending is for the moment answering some inquiry, or busying her-self with some detail of her work, the shoplifter essays to make a quick and

The detective is on the lookout for this kind of customers, and few get farther than the door. If they escape one man, the scrutiny of another, near the entrance, will hardly fail to detect the shoplifter's suspicious actions. With all these precautions, however, the big stores annually lose a large sum through

THE CORINTH CANAL.

Interesting Particulars Concerning a Great Undertaking.

The Corinth canal, which will sever the Peloponnesus from the mainland of Greece, and will permit the largest ships to pass directly from the Gulf of Athens to the Gulf of Corinth, is said to be rapidly approaching completion. A recently published account gives some interesting particulars concerning the undertaking.

The work was begun, says the Engineering and Building Record, some eight years ago by a French company. It was to have been finished in 1887, but various troubles delayed it, and now 1895 is named as the earliest date on which it can be opened for traffic. The canal will have no locks, but is level from end to end and is perfectly straight. It is to be ninety-six feet wide and thirty-six feet deep. At the Corinth end it is crossed by a railroad bridge 164 feet high, under which the tallest ships may pass without lowering their topmasts. With the exception of about 200 yards in the center the channel, it is said, has already been excavated down to sea level, and water has been admit-ted for about half a mile at the Corinth end and half that distance at the other. The total cost of the canal is reckened at $14,000,000, or about $3,500,000 a mile. Compared the Cards. It is a common saying that you can udge a man by his visiting card, says t's Boston Trayeler. A lately arrived rector, not ten miles from Boston, recently left his cheap printed card at the house of one of his parishioners and his neatly engraved one at another's. The houses were respectively in unfashionable and fashionable quarters of the city. But the parishioners happened to cards—as women will—and that rector now wonders why he is growing in dis-favor with some of his parishioners. MISCELLANEOUS.

TOM FITCH AT DENVER.

His Voice Again Uplifted in The Interest of the People.

The Denver News contains a rattling speech by the Hon. Thos. Fitch in that city on January 15, 1891. Mr. Fitch, was as usual eloquent, and gave the free coinage question a vigorous overhauling; such a one as only Tom Fitch can. The speech was delivered before the Denver Chamber of Commerce, and the GAZETTE reproduces it in full:

Hail Denver! the sheen of whose Hail Denver! the sheen of whose silver helmet illuminates a continent. Hail beautiful city of pioneers! Hail mighty commonwealth, whose regal fortunes have been upbuilded by the men who wield pick and hammer and drill. In their behalf let the brains drill. In their behalf let the brains and courage and enterprise of Colorado represented in this hall send tonight to the House of Representatives at Washington, the message that the prosperity of this city and this State, that the peace and safety of the miners' cabins and the farmers' cottages, from the Santee to the San Diego and from the lakes to the gulf, depend upon the restoration of free coinage. That the people of twelve trans-Missouri States refuse to be longer denied the protection to which they are entitled and the justice for which they have beseeched, in vain, these many years. That with us upon this question, the voice of party is hushed to dumbness. That we forget whether we are REPUBLICANS OR DEMOCRATS: that in the presence of or insolvency of hope and despair, almost of life or death, we care nothing about race problems or tariff puzzles; that there must be no more evasion and no more experimenting, and no more jugglery; that in behalf of the silver miners and that in behalf of the silver miners and wheat farmers and cotton growers of twenty-five States, we demand free coinage of silver, and that we will have it. Why should Congress longer hesitate to comply with this demand? Those who have hitherto refused it, have made no adequate reply to the ironclad syllogisms of the advocates of bi-metalism. They have contented themselves, but they can no longer content the country with their silent and sullen opposition to free coinage and silent subservience to the cowardice and greed of Wall street.

The cause of bi-metalism has been

The cause of bi-metalism has been often stated in your hearing. I can hope to bring no new argument to its upholding, yet in performance of the task with which you have honored me, I will briefly array a few familiar thoughts.

Ours is a nation which from Arctic.

Ours is a nation which from Arctic sea to tropic cape, from Pacific to Atlantic, the most resourceful, the most powerful country on earth.

No ancient or modern empire can compare with our republic in resources or extent. It is occupied by 65,000,000 of bright, brave, free, intelligent, in-dustrious and energetic people. It is filled with the natural resources of every zone.

And copper and lead and iron and coal from the mountains, cattle and sheep from the plains, cotton from the South, corn and wheat from the West, oil from the recesses of the wounded rocks, hydro-carbon gas in affluent tornadoes from the earth's caverns, and power pulsing in profusion from a myriad of cataracts. Every food promyriad of cataracts. Every 100d pro-duct of every clime, every resource of every land, and every article of human need that deft fingers and strong arms may fashion can be found within our confines: Among the nations there are none so prosperous or so powerful as ours, none whose wealth has in-creased so marvelously, none whose of especial mention:

Are the highways free from tranger and the poor-houses and er find his brow unfurrowed by the plow of care? Are the highways free from tramps and the poor houses and prison tenantless?

Alas, no! Each year the spiral coil of contraction narrows in the hands of giant capitalists who hold it. Each year the wages of labor and the value of the farmer's crop are a little less. Each year the payment of the interest money becomes more difficult and the prospect of lifting the mortgage more remote. Each year the debtors of the land sink a little deeper in the mire. Each year there is greater absorption of wealth by the few and greater diffusion of poverty among the many. Each year the repasts of Dives are more sumptious, and each year Lazarus in crawling for his crumbs, shiv-ers closer to the marble pavement. What is to be the end?

"Ill fares that land to hastening woes a prey Where wealth accumulates and men decay. If our country is to remain foremost among the nations our minionaries must comprehend that their interests are bound up with the interests of the common people, that they are voyag-ers on the same ship, that their golden ingots are a part of the general cargo, and if the forecastle should be wrecked upon the rocks the inmates of the cabin will be overwhelmed.

Of what avail our boasted general prosperity when adversity sits an un-welcome guest at one-third of the welcome guest at one-third of the hearthstones of the land? What matters it that a thousand new furnaces flame every year if their glare shine upon the whitened

FACES OF HUNGER AND DESPAIR What matters it how abundant the harvest if the corn must be burned for fuel? In general prosperity this nation during the last seventeen years has made phenomenal gains, but the values produced from mine and forest and field, from furnace and anvil and loom, have been appropriated by the few as fast as they have been created by the many. Slavery is only another name for unjust and unequal distribution of the wealth which labor creates, and slavery we have with us to-day, North as well as South, established and supported by a machinery more powerful and effective than that which our armies overthrew. It is estimated that within the last seventeen years in these United States labor has created above the cost of its own substance, at least, $15,000,000,000 of value. Where is it? Is it distributed it ought to be among 15,000,000 omes? Are there 15,000,000 shield What matters it how abundant the

against the assaults of poverty, or have all these accumulations been seized by the centripetal force which dominates our later civilization and hurried into the strong boxes of less than 10,000 past masters of the art of accumulatpast masters of the art of accumulating the earnings of other people?

What need to ask these questions?
Their answer may be heard issuing in despairing accents from the lips of every farmer from the Penobscot to the Sacramento. Their answer may be heard in the anarchic mouthings of the banded brotherhood of beer and brawling who infest the purlieus of New York and Chicago. Their answer may be heard in the sullen mutterings of the swart-browned men who gather in enforced idleness about the uncompared. in enforced idleness about the un-worked coal pits. Their answer may be read in the abandoned shafts, in smokeless furnaces, in weed-grown fields and in the columns of the country newspapers which are compelled to abridge the report of the Thanks-giving sermon in order to make room for the notices of sheriffs' sales.

It is the accursed demonetization law of 1873—the law which deprived the advancing civilization of the world of one-half of its standard money—that has wrought these evils. IT IS GOLD MONOMETALISM That has produced these unnatural and disastrous conditions. It is the kraken of civilization, with its devil's beak in London, and its sucking attence ever reaching for the throat of American labor. It is the pitiless and undiscriminating larcenist of the age. In eighteen years it has plundered the industrious people of the United industrious people of the United States of thousands of millions of dol-lars. It has robbed with unsectional lars. It has robbed with unsectional impartiality the cotton-grower of the South, the wheat farmer of the North and the miner of the West. It has filched from the earnings of the mechanic and the savings of the clerk. It has sweated the wages of the laborer and choked the debtor with the growte of double usury. Its nimbleborer and choked the debtor with the garotte of double usury. Its nimble-fingered army of trained pickpockets have remorselessly robbed 65,000,000 of people for the benefit of 10,000, and with the lasso of its clandestine law of lemonetization it has harnessed the producers of the United States to the carriages of the coupon-cutters.

It is time to call a halt. Europe has been busy for eighteen years, driving the productive industries of this coun-try into a culdesac. It sides narrow

every day. RIOT AND STARVATION

And anarchy are at the end of it, and there is no road out of it. The only order that will save the army is "right about face," and such is the command which the friends of free silver coindesire no new nor unjust nor revolu-tionary measure. We intend only that this nation shall return to the honest money and safe policy of our fathers. We hope only to restore the bi-metalism under which the world prospered for hundreds of years. We desire to walk out of the deadfall into which Europe entrapped us eighteen years ago, and if Europe refuses to follow us in restoring free coinage of silver, we expect, nevertheless, to esit as our American system of finance best suited to our American civilization, and to be strong enough and self reliant enough to say to the world with the proud Scotchman o old, "Wherever the McGregor sits— there is the head of the table."

MILEAGE ALLOWED.

Getting in on the Mileage Allow

The Senate Committee on Mileage made the following report yesterday: Boyle, 44 miles, $11; Comins, 1,016 miles, $354; Dunlap, 44 miles, $12; Emmitt, 62 miles, $15 50; Foley, 62 miles, $15 50; Forbes, 222 miles, $55 50; Folsom, 52 miles, $13; Gallagher, 150 miles, $37 50; Kaiser, 212 miles, $53; LaGrave, 404 miles, $101; Millet. 896 miles, $224; McDonnell, 44 miles, $11; Rickey, 2 miles, 50 cents; Sawyer, 1,286 miles, $321 50; Sproule, 700 miles, $175; Stearns, $16 miles, $204; miles, $204; will begin to move, $XXX. Boyle, 44 miles, $11; Comins, 1,016 miles, $204; Torre, 816 miles, $204; Williams (of Ormsby), 6 miles, $1 50; Williams (of Elko), 804 miles, $201; Williamson, 720 miles, $180.

The law is intended to give each member his traveling expense, and what an injustice it is to give a member from this county $15.50 when it costs him but $4 00, a Hum-boldt member $10 00 when it costs him but $18 to go and come, and so on through the whole list. This is a good chance for some of the Senators to show their statesmanship by refusing to accept any such sum as has been allowed them, but will they do it?

GIBRALTAR.

The Most Promising Brood Hors On the Coast

If John P. Sweeney of Carson can get about twenty-five mares for his trotting stallion Gibraltar in this vicinity he will ship him over here twice a week during the coming sea son. Gibraltar is one of the best bred trotting horses on the coast, and some of his gets are making records that bid fair to be world-beaters. Among the most promising of his colts is Our Dick, owned by Senator Williams of Ormsby, with a record of 2:22½; Homestake, the fastest horse ever raised in California, is another; Doran, a little filly owned in Los Angeles, with a record of 2:23½, is another, besides a number of lesser note.

The Breeder and Sportsman says Gibraltar is the most promising brood horse on the coast to-day. Reno breeders should see that Gibraltar omes here this season.

Bell and Emmitt of Reno, McCullough, present incumbent, and John Ullrick, ex-Sheriff of Ormsby, are, or were, in the field, but it is now reported, and pretty well settled, that McCullough has the best of it, and that the others will likely pull out. It is wonderful in connection with this matter, how quick, after McCullough's stock went up, some of his opponents thought it wise economy to dispense with the office of Warden and make the Lieu-tenant-Governor ex-officio Warden, in order to save the State much expense It is indeed amusing to hear some of less of cost or consequences

TURFMEN'S BELIEFS.

Signs That Point to Good or Bad Luck.

How the Transactions of a Gambler Are Affected by Various Omens - Racegoers' Superstitions in Regard to Lucky Horses.

"That settles it. I don't make a bet to-day."

"Why, what's the matter now?" "Well, the man I bought this programme of is cross-eyed, and I met his gaze. That's one of the worst signs of bad luck I know, and I guess I'll let the horses run to-day."

This conversation was overheard at the entrance of a popular race-course, says A. F. Aldrich, in the New York Star. Gamblers, and particularly turfmen, are very superstitious. Every thing they see is either an omen of good luck or bad, and by these signs they are governed in all their transactions. The dread of a race-goer's life is a crosseyed man. If a man meets a cross-eyed man when he is going to make a bet, it sends a cold shiver all over him. He will put his money away, and very often leave the track. If a cross-eyed woman is met and her gaze is encountered, a man will have luck all day. patron. She gets tips from all the prominent turfmen on the track, and is these tips because the men think it lucky to meet her gaze. She is a hoodoo to the women, though, and their particular mascot at the Clifton track is the cross-eyed young man who sings out: "Get your programme! Get your programme!" at the gate. His patronage chiefly comes from the women, and the men avoid him as they would a plague. Many turfmen have very childish superstitions. If they see the name of a horse placed in any prominent posi-tion while on their way to the races, they invariably take that as a tip that that horse will win, and will play it. The horse may win, and then the man will tell his friends how he got the tip. Should the horse lose, he will declare that the name was placed prominently before him so that he should not play it and he mistook the sign. On the way down to the Monmouth Park races those who journey by the boat to Sandy Hook are always on the lookout for pilot boats. These boats are known by numbers, and the numbers are painted in large black figures on the mainsail. Should they be lucky enough to see a number, they will play the horse that that number points to on the programme in each race. Around every race-track there are always to be seen a number of blind men. Some have been there for several years. Nearly all of them are beggars. A few of them peddle pencils and other small Many of them are growing rich, and they are getting rich simply through the superstitions of the bet ters. An habitual race-goer thinks it is bad luck to pass a blind man without giving him a penny, and if a penny is dropped into the blind beggar's hat it will act as a mascot and bring the donor good luck for the remainder of that day. "Did you back White Nose in the last race?" asked a race-goer of his friend in the betting ring at Sheepshead Bay on the last day of the meeting.

"No," was the reply. "Well, hurry up and get your money on Fitzjames for the next race. It's one of the best things of the season, and Barnes is riding."

"I guess I won't touch it to-day." "Why, what's the matter?" "Well, I laced my shoe up the wrong way this morning, and then unlaced it and laced it up properly. That's a sure sign of bad luck. If I had let it be laced wrongly I would have had good luck all day, but, like a chump, I didn't. Doing such a thing as that is such a hoodoo that if Salvator and Big Brown Jug were in a race together and I were to back Salvator, Lovell's plug would win." Many of the big betters always carry a mascot of some kind or another with them. With some it is a cane, with others an umbrella. Some carry a piece of money, many of them having an old copper piece. Lots of them believe in ome article of wearing apparel, which may vary from a sock to an old coat. The bookmakers seem to be particularly partial to coats. A hunchback is always looked on with favor by patrons of the race course. This is where turimen differ from theatrical men, as actors think a hunchback is a hoodoo, and have been known to refuse to play because they saw one in the audience. Turfmen think that to be able to touch the hump of a hunchback will bring them good luck all that day. They scheme in all kinds of ways to do so, and if one of these deformed men or women should happen to get into a crowd, his back is rubbed very considerably before he gets out. Dreams have always been a favorite superstition with betting people. To dream of seeing a certain horse, or of seeing a certain horse win a race, is looked upon as a sure sign that that horse will win the next time he comes out, and these dreamers invariably tell their friends of their dreams. Some of the dreams that are supposed to be prophetic are very mysterious, and they require all the knowledge of a Paniel to be able to interpret them. These dreamers, though, seem to be able to make any of their visions point in some way to a certain horse. flere is one dream that turned out very well. It is an odd one, and the man did not say whether or not he had been drinking the night before it was dreamed. The dreamer fancied that he was receiving all kinds of odd presents from every one he met. The presents were of no earthly use to him, and he could not make out why they were given to him. The dreamer was a man who had to hustle for a living, and when an elephant and a box of blocks were presented to him he found them decidedly in the way. Slippers arrived by the carticad. Canes and umbrellas were so numerous that he could have stacked a good-sized store. Among other things were a barrel of flour, several bottles of pickles, pieces of dress goods, a wig, a set of false teeth and a offin. When he woke up in the morning he tried to interpret the dream. After puzzling over it for some time he lecided that it must have been his mirthday or Christmas. He eagerly looked over the list of entries in the morning paper, and finding that Birth-day was entered in a mile-and-a-furlong race, felt sure that the dream was a tip. He told all his friends the dream, and they agreed with him. They made a trip to Sheepshead Bay that afternoon and played Birthday at eleven to five. Birthday won, and they celebrated the event in the evening.

On the same day that Birthday won, a young man went down to the racecourse looking very weary and woe-be-gone. His friends could not make out what was the matter with him, as he was usually very lively. He appeared to be wrestling with some weighty subject in his mind which was altogether beyond his capabilities. His friends made him take a drink, joked and laughed with him, watched two races together; but the young man became more dismal every moment. Finally, after a leal of persuasion, and while the betting was going on for the third race, he was induced to tell his tale of

The previous night he had a dream. He hought he was up in Maine having a glorious time. The weather was lovely He, with some others, were camping out in the woods. They had made an excursion to the lumber region, and they were much interested in watching the men felling the trees. While asleep he At one of the winter tracks a woman was having a glorious time, but all day who is a little cross-eyed is a regular tong he had been wondering what that cream meant. He was sure it was a tip, but could not see on what. Suddensaid to make lots of money. She gets ly one of his friends grabbed his programme and made a hurried examina-

"Why, Woodcutter, of course," he exclaimed.

The three men rushed to the betting ring, and just as the horses were going to the post secured three to one against the colt. Woodcutter won, and the young man has been happy ever since. Tips are now to be had from some new drop-a-nickel-in-the-slot machines.

These machines have miniature race tracks attached. Half a dozen horses are fastened on wires and go speeding round the track when a nickel is dropped in. The color of the one that wins is carefully noted. The superstitious then study the programme for a similar color and play that horse. Sometimes they win and sometimes they don't. They have won often enough to make the superstitious believe in the

To see a piebald or calico horse, as they are sometimes called, is a very good sign. To have a strange dog follow you in the street is also considered good luck. To have good luck during the day one must get out of bed on the right side, and the right foot must touch the floor first. Then there is the old superstition about seeing the new er the left shoulder.

Another tip which many of the superstitious are ready to take is given when the horses are at the post ready to start. Very often the saddle girths get a little loose, and the jockey will ask permis sion to dismount and have them tight ened. The superstitious call this "put ting on the cinch," and as soon as they see a boy dismount they hurry off to the betting ring to put on some money. It is rather curious to note that several horses that have had their saddle girths tightened when they have been at the post lately have won their races.

Mammoth Masonry The greatest piece of solid masonry of odern times is now in course of construction in the Bombay Presidency There being danger that the water supply of the city of Bombay would soon become insufficient, it was decided to inclose the water shed of the valley, which drains into the sea south of the city, by means of a dam. The gigantic structure, which will be completed in March next, is two miles long, 118 feet in height and 103 feet wide at the base The roadway on the top is to be 24 feet in width, and the stone work will cost half a million sterling. The lake of water which the dam will imprison will be eight square miles in area.

Took Him by Surprice Not many years ago, says the Shelb, ville (Mo.) Herald, a man went to the Hannibal fair with his herd of cattle to show. When he arrived there he found that he had no opposition, and so eager was he to beat some other herd that he sent word to a man in Ralls County who owned a herd that he would pay his entrance fee of thirty-five dollars if he would bring it down and enter it against him. The Ralls County man did as requested, and the reader can imagine the surprise of the other man when the Ralls County farmer took the first promium with his herd.

OUR COLUMN.

These Are the Books

We Are Giving Away.

This book contains 480 pages; is eight and one-half inches long, six inches wide and two inches thick. It is printed on extra heavy pa-per and is handsomely bound, with embossed cover and gilt-lettered back. It is different from all other works ever published. First—It teaches those who have it how to tell what the matter is when a person gets sick.

All similar books tell what to do if you know what the disease is. This book tells you HOW TO DETECT THE DISEASE, and then what to do for it.

No other Book Published does this.

Second-When a person is really attacked by a dan-gerous disease, it enables you to know the fact, and in such cases its advice is: "Send for a competent physician at once." But in all ordinary cases, such as can be easily cured, it gives full directions for treatment. Third—It is not confined to the practice used by any one class of physicians; but it gives, separately, and for each disease, the methods used by each of the different schools of medicine, and in ALL CASES the PRE-SCRIPTIONS ARE MADE by the MOST EMINENT MEN in their respective modes of practice This modes of practice This makes the work specially suited to the needs of every family, no matter what medical school they prefer.

TESTIMONIALS:

I have examined the advance sheets of "Cur Family Physician" It gives me pleasure to recommend the work as correct in its mode of treatment of disease, and it de-serves wide circulation. J. F. COOK, M. D., Professor in Burnett's Medical Col-lege, Chicago.

After examining the publication "Our Family Physician" I can fully endorse the opinions expressed of its merits by the above gentlemen. R. A. GUNN, M.D. Professor of the Burnett Medical College.

The book contains a valuable chapter of symptoms, which will aid wonderfully in diagnosing diseases, and the proper remedies are given for Allopathic, Homeopathic, Eclectic, Hydropathic and Herbal treatments.

We have a number of the books on hand, and we invite inspection. on hand, and we invite inspection.

There are three chepters in the "Family Physician" which are worthy of special mention, namely, those on "Diseases of Women," "iseases of Infants" and "Care of the sick."

The first of these is a model of its kind. It is chaste in flanguage, contains no disgusting pictures for children to happen on and be overcurious about, such taken altogether is the most practical, sen ible and straight forward treatise upon this delicate subject that has ever been printed.

This chapter alone is worth many times the cost of the book to every mother, even if it had to be purchased at its regular price.

The other chapters referred to are equally well written and valuable, see "Our Plan" on 4th page.

It is customary with newspapers to give premiums to new subscribers only; but the publishers of the Weekly Gazerie mean to revise this old rule; they intend to do as well, at le. st, by their old subscribers—those who have stood by the paper in years past, and paid their money for it "right straight along." We propose to show our apprecation of these friends in a substantial manner; and as the premium to be offered is expensive, and as ou 'express object in offering it is to increase our list of subscribers, we will ask every old subscriber who may renw his subscription, thus receiving the valuable premium, to constitute himself a missionary, and thus in securing at least ONE new subscriber. Come, and bring us one new name and get a book hat will be of incalentable value to you.
